Excerpt from The Ideas and Feelings Necessary to National Greatness: A Sermon Delivered Before the Executive and Legislative Department of the Government of Massachusetts, at the Annual Election, Wednesday, January 2d, 1867 You have been elected executive and legislative officers, gentlemen, for the purpose of preserving and advancing the interests of the State. Massachusetts brings forward all the interests of her one million two hundred thousand people, and says, Take care that for a whole year, over all my territory, from the capes to the western hills, these interests receive no detriment. One billion of dollars ask of you conditions of safety and channels for development. An army of two hundred and fifty thousand children look to you for systems of education that shall fit them for advancement, and save from the poor-house or prison. Helpless paupers stretch their empty hands for aid, and those bereft of reason plead with wild or vacant eyes for Christian charity. More than this.
