

The Merxyn Experiment

Ever since the strange rings appeared above his house, Steve Wilson's life has been a non-stop circus. Being constantly hounded by press members, onlookers, and baffled scientists would be reason enough to go insane, but to make matters worse, his best friend, world famous psychic Stirling McBane, is trying to convince him that his house is alive and demanding to be left alone. Steve refuses to believe such illogical claims until the day he discovers, in his bedroom closet, a portal leading to another planet. There, he learns that his unique home is the result of a flaw in an alien experiment being conducted on Earth. Armed only with a found diary, the telepathic voices of disembodied beings, and the company of a disgruntled extraterrestrial graduate student named Rel, Steve and Stirling must piece together the truth of the Merxyn Experiment and its power to alter the fate of the entire human race.
